FRIENDS OF AUCHINDRAIN

The Friends of Auchindrain is an independent charity (registered number SC004384) that exists to support the work of The Auchindrain Trust. Because of its legal structure individuals cannot join the Trust itself, so the Friends exists instead, working alongside the Trust to preserve and manage Auchindrain.

Members of the Friends can work as volunteers on the site, or from home to help with research or in other ways. If you have some time to spare, there is always plenty to be done, so please email or telephone to see how you can help. However, if you can't help out and just want to stay in touch, that's fine too. The Friends also raise money for the Trust that it can use to "match" against grants to improve Auchindrain, and elect a representative who serves on the Trust itself.

Friends receive year-round free entry to Auchindrain, and an annual newsletter. Those who are on email can also opt in to get regular news updates and information about forthcoming events that may interest them. One event each year is combined with a special Friends meeting that includes a guided tour highlighting new developments.
